Vincent, Mackriss Rinks Win 'Spiel

ALBERTANS SHOULD NOT complain about the cold weather. No sir! They should take a steam bath and roll in the snow. No kidding! That's what these gals are doing. First, they spend about half an hour in 180-degree steam before the cold roll. This is a very refreshing and relaxing experience. So they say.

McMurray CWL Plans Spring-Time Bazaar

The McMurray CWL held its first meeting of the year at the old mission with 24 ladies and Rev. Fr. B. Brown present. President Mrs. R. Theriault was in the chair.

Committees gave reports of past month's activities which included visiting of the hospital and all aged and shut-ins in the community. The president, who convened the CMA and CWL Christmas party at Chateau-Gai, reported an enjoyable evening in spite of a small attendance due to extremely cold weather. Plans were started for a spring bazaar and every member was requested to try and bring at least one completed article to the next meeting.

The CWL charter which had been issued in 1933 was issued with a number only. It was decided to give the name as well and members were invited to bring name suggestions to the next meeting. A gavel will be purchased and engraved when a name is chosen.

Following the conclusion of the business session, Rev. Fr. Brown gave a brief talk on the constitution and by-laws, also a few words on CWL duties other than raising money. Following the talk, Fr. Brown showed movies of his trip last fall to Nahanni Butte in the Arctic, where he built a log A-frame church in 25 days with the help of local natives. The cost of the entire project was $1,500 for labor and $1,500 for material.

The movies showed the building of the church from start to finish which showed a sturdy but nevertheless attractive building. Fr. Brown said the first mass in the new church before leaving for McMurray.

Following the movies, a lunch was served by the lunch committee consisting of Mrs. Joe Gauthier, Mrs. John Gladu, Mrs. Art Giroux and Mrs. Walter Gauthier.

Owing to the extremely cold weather the annual chamber's Christmas party was postponed. Plans are now being made to hold a children's party at Easter with A. Haxton and S. Pawluk making arrangements.

A motion was passed that a recommendation be made to the town council that the word "Fort" be reincorporated in the name of the town. A motion was passed that a letter be sent to the director of fish and game branch, Edmonton, requesting that the moose and deer hunting season be opened one month earlier than at present.

P. Harris and R. Duncan gave a report on the recent trip made by some of the members to the banquet and meeting arranged by the Lac la Biche chamber of commerce. The meeting was addressed by the Hon. W. Dinsdale.

The larger part of the delegation drove to Lac la Biche over the winter road, with the aim of furthering the chamber's drive for an all-weather road into McMurray. A motion was passed that a further letter be sent to the Hon. Mr. Taylor, concerning the need for an all-weather road between McMurray and Lac la Biche.

COUNTY OF ATHABASCA:

Can't Split Townships In Order To Pay Higher Rate

While numerous smaller matters occupied a great deal of County of Athabasca's attention at the two-day meeting Jan. 11 and 12, correspondence from PFA was one of the more interesting items. After investigation, the applications of townships 68-21 and 67-21 were found not too eligible, as the average yield was above eight bushels per acre.

A letter was read from the director of PFA, H. S. Riddell, on the matter of separate blocks within eligible townships.

"Numerous letters are coming to our office from municipal officials and individual farmers requesting us to split eligible townships to form separate blocks or areas within that township, for the purpose of paying one area of block at a higher rate than is paid other areas or blocks within the same township.

"In all cases we are obliged to reply that we have no authority, under the Prairie Farm Assistance Act, to comply with such requests. Areas or blocks simply cannot be established within eligible townships, an eligible township being a township in which the average yield of wheat, or the equivalent thereof, has been found to be eight bushels or less per acre. Eligible townships are classified under subsection 2(b), 2(c) and 2(d) of Section 3 of the act according to the average yield of the entire township, and once an eligible township has been established there is no authority to break it down further into blocks. Only when a township is found to have an average yield of over eight bushels do we revert to the block system.

"We fell that farmers and municipal councils can be saved a lot of trouble and expense incurred in writing to us, or sending in delegates, if they are made aware that we cannot break down eligible townships into separate blocks . . ."

Some survey work and some minor brush burning will be done under Winter Works.

Secretary Walter Leskiw reported briefly that tax collections were somewhat better than last year, but were still not sufficient to meet the needs of the people.

Accounts were examined and ordered paid.

There were no lands sold by public auction at the tax sale.

Land sales were approved: the SE 18-65-19-W4 to L. I. Botten; two others were tabled; six sales for the amount of taxes were approved to former owners.

Machinery was set in motion for election of councillors in Division 1 (present member Tony Aloisio), Division 3 (present member Dan Lechky) and Division 8 (present member chairman Ed Loxam).

Appointment of returning officer was made, Bert Hart again will fill that position. Provision was made for appointment of DRO's, polling places, enumerators, and poll clerks if required. Rates of pay were set the same as last year.

A school for DRO's will again be held, but the date will not be set until later, if an election is necessary.

A bylaw for a temporary loan to cover necessary expenses until the budget is drawn was passed.

Approximately 230 miles of road side spraying is contemplated for 1962.

Work in the Boyle Cemetery will be done under the Winter Works, the lots will be re-staked and authority was given to purchase fence posts to replace those broken

Lac La Biche Bowling Starts Feb. 2

Opening Ceremony 1 p.m., Followed By Free Refreshments, Free Dance

By KEN LARSON

The new four-lane bowling alleys in Lac la Biche will be officially opened with Mayor Mike Maccagno rolling the first ball on Friday, Feb. 2.

The opening ceremony will get underway at 1:00 p.m., followed by an afternoon of regulation bowling and free coffee and donuts.

Later that day, at 9:00 p.m. to be exact, Alberta's famous, and possibly youngest, orchestra, The Harmony Kids, will play at a free dance in the Community Hall in Lac la Biche.

The entire day's proceedings is under the sponsorship of the owners of Lake Lanes, Joe Strembiski and Mat Krys.

No one is quite certain of the bowling prowess of Mayor Maccagno, but observers predict he is capable of making a strike on the first ball, or at least a spare. A large crowd is expected to attend the opening which will be capped by a free dance in the evening, starting at 9:00 and winding up at about 2:00 the next morning.

Leslie Bartman will be master of ceremonies during the day.

Johnny's Coffee Bar, located in the same building, adjacent to the bowling alleys, is also owned by Mr. Strembiski, a town resident for the past 15 years, and Mr. Krys, a well-known farmer of the Bruderheim district. A crowd from Bruderheim is looked for on opening day, since this area is the original home for Mr. Strembiski. John and Helen Tymafichu's, lesees of Johnny's Coffee Bar are getting ready for the big moment that Lac la Biche and district residents have been awaiting.

Mr. Strembiski and Mr. Krys offer a blanket invitation to everyone, far and wide, to join them for coffee, a turn on the five-pin lanes and the free dance at the Memorial Hall in Lac la Biche on Friday, Feb. 2.

Those wishing to play in leagues should contact Lake Lanes. There are 200 pairs of bowling shoes for sale or rent. Men's and ladies' washrooms are in the building.

MAYOR MIKE MACCAGNO will roll the first ball at the opening of the Lake Lanes bowling alleys in Lac la Biche next week.

Five Pins Newest Fun Fest In Town

Joe Strembiski Joins Boyhood Buddy Mat Krys In Lake Lanes

Confident of interest in recreation in the Town of Lac la Biche, particularly the indoor brand, Joe Strembiski has invested in four lanes of five-pin and duck pin bowling.

Joe, as he is popularly known, is active in the community, having been a charter member of the Lions Club and a member in good standing of the Chamber of Commerce.

Joe was born on a farm in the Bruderheim district. His first venture into the business world was in a cafe located in Edmonton, which he opened in 1941.

It was in 1946 that the beautiful district of Lac la Biche called to him, and he started a mink ranch, which he operated for a year.

The late forties will be remembered by many district residents as a time when the motor launch "Kayvilena", named after his two daughters Kay and Vi, and his wife, Lena, plied the waters of the huge lake, carrying tourists as passengers. Joe received his master's papers for operating the launch, but modestly refuses to be called "captain." This launch, once used by the late Joe Johanson in runs between Cucumber Island and the town, is now owned by T. W. Pue, president of Sun Publishing.

In 1949, Joe went into the bowling alley and pool room business located across the street from Michael Hamar Ltd., adding a lunch counter to it. Shortly after he opened a lunch counter on the spot where the Michael Hamar super-groceteria is now, the building containing the bowling alley burned down, claiming the life of one man and a four-year-old girl.

Later, Joe moved into the building next to the Imperial Bank of Canada, and operated a second hand store before converting it into a cafe. This is now Johnny's Coffee Bar. The building now houses the cafe, space that could be used eventually for a banquet room, and the four-lane Lake Lanes bowling alleys.

THE HARMONY KIDS will play for the free public dance sponsored by Lake Lanes on the opening day of the four-lane bowling alleys in Lac la Biche, Friday, February 2. The group has been playing together eight years and has made major appearances on Canadian and U.S. radio and TV networks. The "Kids" won the national championship on the CBC's Talent Caravan in 1960, and played at the dance on the day natural gas came to Lac la Biche, and at the 1961 graduation dance in the town. Pictured here are (left to right) Ronnie Barabash, Pat Melnychuk, Donnie Barabash, Richard Barabash and Leslie Haydon.

a force for democracy

This is the winning entry in the Advertising Federation of America annual essay competition for high school students on the importance of advertising in our economy. Miss Lander was awarded a $500 prize. Her composition is reprinted here in its entirety. It will also be reproduced in almost 200 newspapers throughout the United States and six foreign countries, as part of a continuing campaign in "behalf of advertising."

Sun Publishing Co. Ltd., Edmonton, Alta.

Advertising is the bulwark on which many of our freedoms are built. Some of these freedoms are as small as the choice of a tube of tooth paste, and some are as large as the exploration of outer space — but, large or small, they are the open gates through which we can constantly expand the scope of our lives.

Advertising makes possible the marketing of goods and services, encourages competition among businesses, and assures the people of free countries a choice between competing products.

Advertising gives us freedom of enjoyment, because the makers of competing products must price their goods as low as possible — and when the cost of necessities is held to a minimum, people have money left for recreation and entertainment.

Advertising gives workers freedom from much exhausting physical labor — and a greater choice of ways to earn a living. Advertising, by increasing the demand for products, makes mass-production methods possible, necessitates the use of gigantic machines to carry tremendous weights, and creates a labor market in which intelligent "man hours" are more vital than "horse power."

Advertising gives job-holders security by sustaining a demand for products and giving financial stability to the company which makes them.

Most important of all, advertising gives us freedom of knowledge. Every public means of communication is supported by the advertising it sells.

Without the several thousand trade publications which cover individual segments of our industrial fields, manufacturers would not know of new machinery and techniques available, retailers might never learn of new products available for their stores, and doctors would have to leave their patients and return to medical school to keep abreast of modern medical research.

Without radio and television, we would be unable to hear the voices of our national leaders. During a political campaign, the men for whom we vote can become almost as familiar to us as our families, and we choose our candidates confidently, because we know them — thanks to advertising media.

Without newspapers and magazines we would have no knowledge of important events which take place half-a-block or half-a-continent from our homes. Newspapers, often sold for the less than the cost of the paper and ink, can give us facts from all over the world in a matter of hours. Magazines, published at a more leisurely pace, but still supported by their advertising pages, can utilize their staffs and freelance writers to find the long-range trends, or to explore subjects which will interest and teach their readers.

Advertising has been strongly criticized, and sometimes weakly defended. Perhaps the greatest commentary on advertising as a force for democracy is that there is no advertising industry behind the Iron Curtain.

Dictators have much to hide — and nothing to advertise

REPORT FROM OTTAWA

By Anthony J. Wright

INDONESIAN INVADERS: The External Affairs Department here has split sympathies over President Sukarno's plans to attack West Irian (Dutch New Guinea) unless the Dutch yield the area. Firstly, the Dutch are NATO allies and good friends of Canada. Secondly, no one wants war if he has any sense. Thirdly, Ottawa gives aid to Indonesia under the Colombo Plan and has a live interest in seeing some kind of stable government continue its efforts to fashion a strong and sound nation out of what used to be Java, Sumatra and assorted islands.

Anthony Wright

The Indonesians are our friends, as are all the nations in that part of the world. However, it is known that Canadian diplomats who have served in Djakarta are not entirely happy about the "cold shoulder" they have been shown by Indonesian authorities.

At least one diplomat who served in Djakarta felt that the budding nation, understandably sore at the "whites" because it had once been a colony, could have behaved in more friendly fashion to Canadians posted to Djakarta. This diplomat did his best to foster friendly social relations with Indonesian officials but was never invited to their homes. If he "laid on" a dinner for Indonesians he would have the unhappy experience, sometimes, of discovering at the last minute that the guest could not be there. Sometimes the guest would leave halfway through the meal or immediately after the meal with a mumbled excuse about having to see his minister about important business.

I do not want to exaggerate this into an international incident or to contend that there was serious friction. The main feeling on Canada's side was that the Indonesians were still taking their dislike of Holland out on all westerners, even though their revolution had been completed some years before.

This impression would certainly be pooh-poohed by Indonesians. They are among the friendliest folk among foreigners here but the impression is there nonetheless.

President Sukarno is by no means clearly in command of the whole Indonesian "nation". Sumatrans never did like Javans, Djakarta is Javan. In addition there are other racial strains within the Indonesian complex. Some of the arms Indonesia gets, partly from Communist countries, are for the purpose of keeping down "rebels". The army is the strong force within the new nation, its commander being staunchly anti-Communist.

It is doubtful whether the West Irians would like to be ruled from Djakarta. But things have come to such a pass that sooner or later Holland would have to move out. Hence Indonesia feels she has whip hand. President Sukarno, who has had several expensive jaunts around the world, may believe that although the United States and others of Holland's NATO allies will not sell arms to Indonesia, the western nations would be willing to spend a lot of money to prevent Communism taking firm hold in Indonesia.

This is a belief many Asian nations have at the back of their minds . . . a fact of modern international life in these troubled times.

MR. FLEMING—DOUGHTY FIGHTER: Finance Minister Donald Fleming, I am told, has turned out to be an expert chairman of international conferences. He was a great success at the first meeting of the O.E.C.D. ministers in Paris last year and, as I write, is preparing for the eight-minister conference between Canadian and American cabinet officers meeting here Jan. 12 and 13. Ironically, although Canadians may have the image of George Hees as the expansive free-trader and Donald Fleming as the cautious protectionist, this is not a corect picture.

Before the latest GATT round of talks at which Mr. Hees led the Canadian team, Mr. Fleming did his darnedst to persuade George to agree to a cut in the Canadian tariff on a certain item. Hees refused even tho' Mr. Fleming sent a special message to the plane before George took off, asking the Trade Minister to relent and offering to take the blame should the tariff cut backfire politically. Mr. Hees had his way—we keep the tariff in these days of free-trading.

YOUTH DIES FOR RAPE

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. — Charles Lewis Forgey, 22, of Dallas was electrocuted recently for the rape of a Dallas woman.

Tears streamed down his cheeks as guards strapped him into the chair at the state penitentiary shortly after midnight.

"Wait a minute," he begged, and the guards stopped momentarily.

Forgey then composed himself, and said: "God bless everybody. Thank you."

At 12:03 a.m. the first jolt shook his body. Forgey was pronounced dead three minutes later.

Large boats must be grounded to leave Saigon, capital of the Republic of Viet Nam. The city lies 50 miles inland on the narrow Saigon river. Big vessels calling there can turn around only by running their stems on to the bank and waiting for the tidal current to swing them about.

REDDY Recommends

. . . a cake baked in the electric frypan. The frypan is usually used for cooking steaks, chops and chicken, but have you tried making doughnuts or desserts in it?

PEACH PECAN UPSIDE DOWN CAKE

Temperature: 220° F. to start. 260° to finish. Yield: 8-10 servings.

- ⅓ cup butter
- ¾ cup brown sugar
- 1 can or 10 peach halves
- 9 maraschino cherries
- ⅓ cup pecans
- 1 pkg. spice cake mix or favorite spice cake recipe
- Whipped cream if desired

METHOD

1. Set dial at 220° F. Add butter.
2. When melted, spread brown sugar evenly over surface of frypan.
3. Arrange fruit and cherries over sugar mixture—sprinkle pecans between peaches.
4. Cover. Leave at 220° F. while preparing cake batter, according to directions on package.
5. Pour over fruit spreading to cover it entirely.
6. Cover leaving vent open. Turn dial to 260° F. Bake 30 minutes. Remove cover and continue baking for 5 minutes until top of cake is dry.
7. Loosen around edges with spatula.
8. Invert on a cake plate or tray. Allow to stand a few seconds then remove frypan.
9. Serve, garnished with whipped cream.

VARIATIONS

Apricot and prune halves with gingerbread.

Bananas and cherries with chocolate cake mix. Slice banana thin, lengthwise and lay over brown sugar.

Pineapple and cherries with white cake.

THIS'N THAT

Do not scour your frypan with harsh abrasives or scrape it with a sharp knife as this may damage the silicone finish and cause food to stick.

If food has stuck, heat a detergent solution in the frypan and scrape spots gently with a wooden spoon to remove all particles.
